

Raveché in Vietnam

Dr. Harold J. Raveché was formally invited, on behalf of the Board of Management of Saigon Hi-Tech Park, to join as a keynote speaker in the conference “Innovation Management for Sustainable Growth,” held on April 17, 2013, in Ho Chi Minh City, Vietnam at the Administration building of Saigon Hi-Tech Park.

With the aim to present and exchange ideas and best practices in promoting innovation and developing entrepreneurship within enterprises, universities and technology communities in general, the event convened some 100 participants from the innovation and educational communities including government agencies, private sector and development organizations. It also attracted media coverage in the local and international press.

“We believe that, with your deep knowledge and extensive experiences in both academic and entrepreneurial sectors,” the organizers wrote in their invitation to Dr. Raveché, “you will inspire the engineers, researchers, potential entrepreneurs, and guide them on how to innovate and cultivate their innovation through business start-ups and technology commercialization.”